Schedule “A”

The International Union of Food Science and Technology Incorporated (IUFoST)

(the “corporation”)

5) Statement of the purpose of the corporation:

The purposes of the corporation are to advance food science and technology globally through:

a) encouraging and fostering international co-operation and exchange of scientific and technological knowledge and ideas among food scientists and technologist;

b) providing expert scientific advice on important public issues related to food science and technology, including to international organizations such as the International Council for Science (ICSU), the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), the World Health Organization (WHO), the United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) and other organizations of similar nature in the area of food science and technology;

c) further developing and supporting food science and technology research;

d) promoting progress in food processing, manufacturing, preservation, and distribution to increase the availability of safe and nutritious food to humanity;

e) advancing education, training and professional development of food scientists and technologists;

f) being a global point of reference for ethical and competent practice in food science and technology;

g) sharing good practice to support the development of competent national organizations for food scientists and technologists; and

h) co-operating with other international organizations whose discipline could have an influence on food science and food technology, including but not limited to water, soil, nutrition and chemistry.
The purposes of the corporation are based on principles laid down in IUFoST's Vision, Mission and Activity statements.

Vision

To be recognized as the international organization that most effectively supports and represents food professionals and other food sector constituencies; meeting their needs and aspirations by continuous refinement and improvement of a range of services, delivered according to the specific needs of regions, countries and of those we serve.

Mission

To promote international co-operation and information exchange, to provide education and training to food scientists, food technologists and food engineers around the world and to promote professionalism and professional organization among food scientists, food technologists and food engineers.
To strengthen global food science and technology for humanity.

Activities

1. IUFoST pursues its Mission, Vision, and Objectives by means of, including but not limited to, international congresses, regional or world-wide conferences, symposia and workshops, cooperation with other international, governmental, and non-governmental scientific organizations, sponsorship of continuing professional education, technical assistance programs, publication and dissemination of scientific and technical information by means appropriate to the need, and provision of other services desired by those with whom IUFoST interacts.

2. IUFoST has founded an Academy called The International Academy of Food Science and Technology (IAFoST) to support and to accomplish its mission.

3. IUFoST encourages productive bilateral arrangements between Adhering Bodies, and the formation of effective regional groups, the latter with approval by the Board and ratification by the General Assembly.

4. IUFoST and its Adhering Bodies agree that IUFoST and its regional groups are the instrument of choice for activities beyond their own borders, other than bilateral arrangements with another Adhering Body or where other bilateral arrangements or regional groupings already exist.

5. IUFoST publishes scientific journals, newsletters, Information Bulletins and/or proceedings of congresses, symposia, or other types of meetings sponsored by it.

6. IUFoST as a member of the International Science Council (ICSU) promotes and supports the objectives of ICSU in the area of Food Science and Technology. Relations and cooperation with other ICSU Unions and international bodies are encouraged, subject to ratification by the General Assembly.
